Main technics of pure water treatment equipment

The electronics industry with the characteristics of continuous production of water, using the entire membrane treatment process (UF + RO + EDI) to complete the preparation of highly pure water work;

For the water features of electronics industry , enhanced to removal silica, heavy metals and organic carbon in water.

Adopted import reverse osmosis membranes, desalination rate is high, long service life, the operation cost is low, the output water quality is high and stable.

On-line water quality monitoring and control, real-time monitoring of water quality to ensure safety of water quality.

Automatic control procedure, also equipment with touch screen operation, easy to use, the operation is simple, safe.
